A DOUBLE SUICIDE.

A Unparalleled Example of Indian Stoicism.

A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Montana, relates the following story of the suicide of two Indians who were under sentence of death for murder:

Two of the condemned Cheyennes were found dead in their cell on the following morning. They had sought death in a cool and deliberate manner, so unparalleled as to provoke the admiration of even their white foes. Although handcuffed, and chained by the ankles to a bull-ring in the floor, they had succeeded in hanging themselves by a belt-strap to an iron bar in the aperture of the cell door. The same trap was used by both, one waiting until the other was dead, and then lifting down the corpse, deliberately removing the strap, and adjusting it for his own strangling. There was much excitement in the morning when the double suicide was discovered—the predominant feeling in the crowd being, apparently, one of disappointment at being cheated out of a public execution. But the suicides, although they cheated the gallows, cannot be regarded as having gained an unequalled triumph over their custodians. The Indian idea is that a suicide carries with him into the next life the surroundings in which the deed was committed, and accordingly these unfortunate are doomed to carry the overhanging burden of a windowless log cabin surrounded by a stockade. A Cheyenne at Fort Keogh, being asked his opinion of the act, replied: "Big fools—stout hearts!" He expressed the universal sentiment.

A Rich Man who Enjoys Life.

N. Y. Sun.

The plan adopted by M. Jerome Marble of Worcester, Mass., of traveling in his own palace car, is not only positively comfortable, but comparatively cheap. He told a correspondent of the Northwestern Lumberman that the entire cost of a trip of seven weeks made by himself and friends, covering 4000 miles, on the Northern Pacific was but a little over $200 per head. The charge made by the railroad for hauling his car is but their regular first-class fare for passengers occupying the car, provided it carries a minimum number of twelve. Mr. Marble further said that his entire car expenses, exclusive of the amount paid to the railroad companies, but including board, were fifty-seven cents daily for each person. This is probably due to the party living on the game they shot. The Pullman Company is reported to be constructing two cars on the same pattern, which they will let to hunting and pleasure parties for the season. Mr. Marble's car includes twelve double berths, and is in three compartments. One end is devoted to offices, the other to lavatories, etc. The middle is a sleeping room by night and a luxurious parlor, including piano, library, etc., by day. A far pleasanter place on a wet night, after a day's shooting than a soaking tent on sloppy ground.

Pistol Practice in Eureka.

Eureka Leader.

This afternoon about 1 o'clock a man by the name of Oliver, an employee of W. P. Haskel, came up Buel street with blood in his eye and a seven shooter that carries a ball about as large as a very small sized pea, in his hand. He was in search of a female canine which had, a few days previous, bitten him while he was at work in the Villa Bath House. The dog soon made its appearance and the battery was wheeled into position and turned loose down Buel street. Two shots were fired and when the thoughtless shooter opened his eyes the dog was gone, and he supposed that the shots had blown the savage pup into small atoms that they were invisible. Investigation, however, proved that the dog was uninjured and that a carpenter by the name of Alex. McKay, who was at work on Sweeney & Kermene's stable, had received a bullet in the leg, about two inches below the knee. The victim was removed to Dr. Williams' office and Dr. Chamberlain attended the wound, but did not succeed in finding the bullet, which took an upward course and is probably imbedded in the bone under the knee cap. It is possible that the wound may prove very serious.

A strange occurrence is reported from Wetzikon, Canton Zurich, in Switzerland. On June 7 the Commune was invaded by an immense swarm of butterflies, two-thirds of a mile wide, and so long that the procession took two hours to pass. They were principally of the kind known in Switzerland as Diatraea, which feed on nettles and thistles. They flew from ten to thirty feet above the ground, and went off in a westerly direction.

A Memphis physician advocates the theory that free perspiration will cure nearly every disease by expelling it through the pores. He advertises a resort for invalids where "the sun pours down with unrestricted ferocity," a cooling breeze is unknown, and the thermometer indicates over 90 day after day. He admits that life there would be unendurable, but for the consciousness that the suffering is incidental to cure.

The Fate of The Grasshopper.

Easter's Exchange.

It is reported that grasshoppers are hatching out in innumerable myriads on the prairies west of the Missouri river. Their natural food is grass, and as long as they feed upon it they thrive, but when they migrate from the plains, to feed upon cultivated grain, the high living causes disease, and three summers spent in an agricultural region will kill them all off. It is believed that frontier farms will always be subject to their incursions, but as the tide of empire rolls westward the grasshoppers will go with it and finally disappear.

Talk is Cheap.

And so are fine clothing, boots, shoes and gentlemen's and boys' fine furnishings goods, if you go to the right place to get them. This is a mighty important point, for some people who assert that they sell cheap do nothing of the kind. We do not boast when we say that we defy competition in prices in anything in our line. Besides this we have only one price. We have no preferred customers. Everybody is treated alike at our establishment. Our stock is the largest and most complete ever offered in any part of this state. Everything we have is new. No old, musty, and out-of-date goods can be found on our shelves. We receive daily by rail and express the latest and best goods, which are obtained at first hand and sold at prices below those now prevailing in New York and Chicago. Let the people come and judge of our prices, and examine our stock before going into those humbugging, cheap John shops, in which they drag into the ear of the customer that they sell at cost and even below cost. Anybody with common sense must know that they lie. No storekeeper sells goods for the fun of the thing, we make a profession of selling, as every honest merchant does, and don't print foolish falsehoods in the vain hope of deceiving the public. We particularly call attention to our full stock of fancy underwear, such as is kept nowhere else in Reno. This class of goods forms one of our specialties. Remember this place, the White House, No. 19 Commercial Row.

A BLUNDERING BEE.

The Sacramento Bee of the 3d inst. by way of reply to some remarks in the GAZETTE, renews its abuse of "L'Assommoir." The Bee's article is too lengthy to reprint, but from its long tirade, we make the following extracts:
 "This Reno GAZETTE does not like the Bee's abuse of the Argonaut for publishing that nasty French novel 'L'Assommoir,' and calls it a nonsensical piece of prudery."
 "Its characters are all from the slums. There is not a woman among them with a trace of virtue nor a man with a smack of manhood. The pen has nothing to record of virtue. It gloats and revels in the slush and holds the reeking mass up with beastly glee to the eyes of mankind."
 "To defend the Argonaut is not within the province of the GAZETTE. That able journal needs no Champion. Yet since the Bee has chosen to apply our remarks to itself, we are constrained to make reply."

The GAZETTE, unlike the Bee, is no critical journal. We believe that "L'Assommoir" is a work of genius. But we cannot attempt to review such a book in these columns. More abuse and denunciation sometimes pass for criticism, and of that kind of criticism the Bee furnishes a melancholy example. In the work under consideration there are passages which offend the English sense of propriety. So there are in the works of all the great English dramatists. But the statement that "L'Assommoir" is an immoral work is untrue. Its aim is neither moral nor immoral, but fidelity to truth. There have never been wanting blundering bees to drone denunciation of great creations.

The Bee has come forward as the champion of Mrs Grundy. But its zeal for propriety has led it into trouble. Its wholesale condemnation of the work compels the belief that L'Assommoir has never been read by the editor of the Bee. We cannot for a moment entertain the hypothesis that the Bee has deliberately lied. Yet it has published untruths of Zola's novel. In speaking of the characters in the work, it said: "There is not a woman among them with a trace of virtue." "There is not a noble action done." "The pen has nothing to record of virtue." To show that these remarks of the Bee are grossly untrue, it is sufficient to quote from the work, the extracts which follow. They refer to a mere child whose devotion to her little brother and sister, orphans like herself, wear away her feeble life until she dies. The chapter from which they are taken is one of the most pathetic in all literature. We regret the necessity of mangling it.

"But her childish face, all covered with livid spots, took on such an expression of intense grief, that Germaine, forgetting her own agony for the moment, clasped her hands and fell upon her knees by the side of the bed."
 "He fell into his chair, uttering: 'Our little mother! oh! our little mother!'"
 "They seemed to be the only words he could find; and they were very sweet to L'Assommoir, who had never been so spoiled before. She tried to comfort her father, and told him how troubled she was at leaving him, before having completely brought up the children. He would take care of them, wouldn't he? And with her dying breath she gave him instructions as to how they should be cared for and kept clean."

"And that to her last death rattle did this poor little kitten continue a mother to her family. There was one whom they could never replace very certainly. She died for having at her age the sense of a real mother, and for having a bosom still too tender and too small to hold so large a portion of maternity."
 "Germaine governed herself so as not to burst into sobs. She held the child's hands in the hope of comforting her. And, as the torn sheets were not in place, she wanted to turn them down and arrange the bed. Then she saw the poor little body of the dying one. O Lord! what a sight. How miserable! How pitiful! The very stones would have wept!"
 "Oh, this massacre of the infants—the heavy pairs of men crushing the love of children! Oh, the abomination of such weakness and suffering, under such a cross, while one adores in the churches the scourged saint!"

whose nakedness is far less pure. Germaine knelt again, giving up the thought of taking down the sheets, and upset by the sight of the pitiable little figure which lay at the bottom of the bed, and her trembling lips began to utter a prayer."

THE RESERVATION FISHERMEN

We urged upon the last legislature the necessity of making a representation to congress, and the department, of the exact condition of the grant to the Pyramid lake Indians, and all the circumstances of the case, and tried to serve this county and our patrons by getting the difficulty settled at once and forever, by the cheap and simple process of cutting the reservation in two. The legislature felt entirely competent to instruct President Hayes on what bills to sign, and interfered in national matters in other ways, several different times, not in the least in a way unworthy or out of place in any state legislature. But when the plea is set up that the same body could not notice the matter of reducing the reservation, because it was a national affair, the weakness of the defense is apparent. If proper information were given to the department by any reliable authority, we have little doubt but the then under-trial for trespassing, would be pardoned, and the ground where they want to fish thrown open to public settlement. The men who are encouraging them in fighting the case are, in our opinion, very much to blame, and are getting the fishermen into very serious trouble, from which they can only escape by a term in prison and a heavy fine. The quickest and by far the cheapest way out of the difficulty, would be to make a combined and strong effort, through Senator Jones and Congressman Daggett, to have the north line of the reservation drawn through Goat Island. If this cannot be done through the department, let a law be introduced in congress for that purpose.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In these days of newspaper enterprise a reporter is expected to be everywhere and to see everything. His duties do not permit him to eat very often, and he never sleeps. He must report everything that is going on in the heavens above, the earth beneath or the water under the earth. Besides, he must know everybody. In addition to knowing everybody he must watch and faithfully report everybody's movements. These are a few of the reasons why reporters die young.

We publish to-day the speed programme of the annual fair of the Northern District Agricultural Society which will be held at Marysville, Cal., next fall, commencing on September 15. The prizes offered range from $150 to $750. The fair will doubtless be largely attended.

The Arizona Citizen says: There is now on the way to Pima county a prospecting machine which, it is said, will put a hole into a ledge at the rate of 200 feet a day. It, of course, sinks a small hole and must be operated on the principle of the diamond drill. The machine coming here is to be worked by hand or horse power, but steam may be applied. A hole is bored into the ore and by the borings the character and value of it can be pretty accurately ascertained. The machine coming is capable of putting a hole in to a depth of 1000 feet.

The Celebration!!

RENO'S OBSERVANCE OF INDEPENDENCE DAY!

Processions, Orations, Sports and Fire Works!

A Fine Day and a Grand Blow-out!

The Fourth has come and gone, and the noise, hurrahs, firing of guns, beat of drums and the blare of trumpets of the celebration so long looked for, have become food for memory. The morn yesterday dawned bright and cloudless, but the wind sprang up about 9 o'clock and blew a brisk breeze the rest of the day. But aside from a shade too much wind the day was glorious. At 11 o'clock the procession formed on Virginia street, the band in front, the Reno Fire Department and the order of Caucasians coming next, followed by the President of the Day, Orator, Reader, Reciter and Chaplain in carriages. The next feature of the procession was

TWO CARS OF STATE, each containing thirty-eight girls, ornamented with red, white and blue bunting. One was the regular car of state and the other was from Glendale. Behind the cars of state came a temperance car filled with children, and following it came a queerly tricked out buggy in which two quaint characters, representing Betsy Bobbitt and Josiah Allen's wife, sat. Then followed the advertising wagons, carriages, horsemen and footmen. The procession marched up Virginia street and Commercial Row to West street, across the railroad track to Fourth street, down Fourth to Lake street, down Lake to Plaza, up Plaza to Sierra, from which it turned again into Commercial Row, moving down Commercial Row the procession turned into Centre street and continued to the Pavilion, where it came to a halt. A very large audience assembled to hear the exercises; a great portion of whom were ladies. The vast hall was filled almost to its full capacity. The President of the Day, J. C. Hagerman, made a brief, but eloquent address, recalling some of the great historical events connected with the anniversary. After a prayer by the Chaplain, Mr. Hagerman introduced E. W. Hayden, who read the Declaration of Independence in a clear, distinct voice. Miss Ada Titton was introduced and recited "Independence Bell" very spiritually, receiving a generous applause at its close. The

ORATOR OF THE DAY, Hon. C. S. Varian, now came forward and delivered the oration. Mr. Varian read his speech from manuscript. It was terse and vigorous, and remarkably free from the florid platitudes usually indulged in by Fourth of July orators, and delivered his address gracefully and clearly. It is to be regretted that the speech was spoiled for many, by the continual tramping up and down stairs of a lot of grown and half grown hoodlums. Shortly after the regular exercises of the day were over the

"HORRIBLE" PROCESSION. advanced into town, heralded by the clang of gongs and the toot of many horns. It was about as ridiculous a cavalcade as ever got together and made a person laugh in spite of himself. The Drum Major was a host within himself, while Jim Jam Boree, the orator, was gotten up in gorgeous shape, a sort of a cross between a Chinese clown and a Kentucky moonshiner. The car of state bore a striking resemblance to a delapidated pig pen. The negro exodus was dazedly represented, and Sambo's go-cart was tagged for Kansas. A wagon with a big frame bore an ALLEGORY OF THE "TAR BRIGADE" at work. One poor devil was standing up in one end of the wagon, while several others were busy smothering him with Carolina ointment. In the other end was a fellow tied to a whipping post and another lashing him with a blacksnake rounded off the picture. Many of the characters were ingenuously carried out, the "Bungles Doublets," a Chinaman and a darkey, connected by a leather ligament, were especially rich. The character of an Indian warrior in full war paint was acted to the life.

HIS SATANIC MAJESTY Was along, and was about the laziest good-for-nothing looking devil in the country. He seemed to be a kind of guardian angel to the tar brigade.

The procession marched all through town, and got the biggest crowd of spectators it was able to furnish. It finally halted in front of the Arcade and Jim Jam Boree addressed the Drum Major and his ignoble horde, inveighing against the high price of whiskey and the low price of work. His sentiments appeared to meet the approval of the mob, for they all cheered, clear down to the devil. When the speech was concluded the motley array took up its line of march and moved out of town.

The sack race was almost devoid of interest. It was won by a stranger named De Belzen.

A foot race by boys between the ages of 12 and 16, for a gold pen, was the next feature of the programme. It was won by Drew Taylor. The boys' race for a pair of gold sleeve buttons, was won by Abe Barnett.

THE HOSE CART RACE between the "48" and No. 1 was pretty contested for awhile, but No. 1 had a "hot box," and fell behind. The "48" got away with the prize. The water throwing contest between the "48" and No. 1 steamer, was watched with great interest. At first it seemed as if the "48" would get the best of this match too, but after a while the little steamer got down to her work, and as the steam shot out ahead of the "48's"

A SHOCKING SUICIDE.

The Tragedy at Surprise Valley.

Martha Bare was a girl of fourteen, residing with her parents at Surprise Valley. Last winter she attended school at Lake City, and about two months ago she returned home for vacation. She was unusually bright in her studies at school, and personally very attractive. In person she was large, and mature for her age. A week ago last Tuesday, her family manner, but their suspicions were not excited. The girl had never shown any indication of mental aberration. Her disposition was cheerful, and she was uniformly light-hearted. Save the peculiarity noticed in her appearance last Tuesday, she had given her parents no cause for any anxiety. On that day, about noon, she left the house to go to a milk room in a building detached from the house. Her prolonged absence excited remark, and Johnny Cross, a hired man, was sent to look for her. He found her lying on the floor of the milk-room

IN A DYING CONDITION.

He immediately returned to the house and called her father. When her father reached the dying girl he asked her what she had taken. She answered "strychnine." To the question where she had obtained the poison, she merely said she had taken it herself. The poison had nearly done its work before the girl was found, and it was too late to do anything to save her. She expired shortly after she was removed to the house. The day following the suicide, a coroner's inquest was held and a verdict of death from suicide rendered. The circumstances attending the melancholy occurrence, and the girl's own admission, left no room for doubt as to the cause of her death. The motive for the rash act is not known. It is reported that disappointment in a love affair was the probable cause. The young lady was highly esteemed by her acquaintances, and her conduct had always been above reproach. Her parents are among the most respectable people of the valley. Much sympathy is felt for them in their distress.

A Whistler From Battle Mountain.

An unkempt looking stranger with his boiler full of bug juice commenced a promiscuous hauling down of the American flag on Virginia street yesterday. Constable Avery and Abe Hartly went for him and started to "shoot" him into jail. On the way over the river he informed them that he was a "whistler from Battle Mountain," said he could whistle the "Star Spangled Banner" in thirteen languages and whistle the "Little Brown Jug" to the tune of "Old Hundred" and never miss a bar. He also said he could whistle the "Requies March" so that it could not be distinguished from "Hold the Fort," and proceeded to spill melody from his broad basket. After whistling a few bars he broke to run, when Hartley smote him about the apex of the spinal column, and sent his nose on a voyage of discovery in the sand about fifteen feet distant. The whistler from Battle Mountain roosted in jail.

Scarlet Fever Spreading Again.

That dread scourge of childhood, scarlet fever seems to be spreading again. Mrs. Bristol, the wife of James Bristol, died of it yesterday evening and the four children of the family are all down with the disease. Several other cases of the distemper are reported in and about town. Scarlet fever is greatly dreaded on account of its fatality and because there is no known remedy for it. People who live in the neighborhood of the infection are very much frightened.

JOTTINGS.

—See M. Weil's ad. of great bargains.
—There were three Picnics at Peavine yesterday.
—Hammond & Wilson want bids for plastering. See ad.
—If you want to smoke a fine cigar go to the theatre cigar stand.
—The county commissioners hold their regular monthly meeting Monday.

—The fall term of Mount St. Mary's Academy will open on the first day of September.

—John Doe knocked a man down yesterday for applying to him an obnoxious epithet. J. D. was arrested and fined $15 for this proceeding which he paid.

—The members of the Reno brass band acquitted themselves with great credit yesterday under the trained leadership of Philip Brown, who handled the musicians under him with great skill.

—Elder A. Hawes, who preaches at the court-house to-morrow, is not a follower of polygamous Brigham, but belongs to the sect known as Josephites. The Josephites are firm believers in monogamy, and deny that Brigham Young was a prophet.

A High Wind.

During the high wind which prevailed yesterday morning, J. Moorman Cutter started out with a half-gallon of whiskey to take to his sick mother who lives out on Virginia street. He was found some hours afterwards lying behind a fence on the hill beyond the bridge, in an inarticulate condition. Later in the day he recovered sufficiently to explain the catastrophe which had overtaken him. He said that he had stopped around a corner to fix the cork in the jug, and while he was taking the measure of the orifice in the jug, a tremendous zephyr came down on him like a whirlwind. It sucked the liquor clean out of the jug, blew it down his throat and turned the jug inside out. He could remember nothing more of the occurrence. No traces of any jug or liquor were noticed where Cutter was picked up. They had both been spirited away.

A Step Backward.

Many improvements have been made in Reno of late, but the stairway put up on Virginia street is not one of them. The structure referred to was last week erected in front of the building occupied by Goegge and Pinniger & Queen. The signers to the petition which induced the county commissioners to give their consent to the building of a stairway on the street supposed that it would be a light openwork staircase. Instead, it is a heavy, boarded-in stairway, an eye-sore and a nuisance on a principal business street. The precedent is bad. No such structures should be permitted on the business street of any town. They obstruct the view of the street and hide the shop windows. Most towns find it necessary to prohibit even hanging signs. The streets should be kept as clear as possible and free from all unsightly incumbrances.

Return of an Artist.

T. F. Laycock, the scenic artist, has returned from Carson, where he has been painting scenery for the Opera House. The Carson papers have highly praised his work. The drop curtain at Piper's Opera House in Virginia, and that of the Carson Opera House, were both painted by Laycock, and have been much admired. Eureka is about to build a new theatre, and its proprietors would do well to secure the services of a competent artist in T. F. Laycock.

Pyramid Lake Fish.

The fishing business employed last summer from 18 to 20 men besides those engaged in hauling the product to market. The fish sold for a bit a pound and there was an average catch of nearly 10,000 pounds per week, 3000 of which came here and the rest to Wadsworth. If this industry is to be stopped Reno and Washoe county will feel the loss in a very forcible manner and more particularly in dull times like these.

Robbing the "Horribles."

While the "Horribles" were doing their best to entertain the public yesterday, some sneak availed himself of the opportunity to go through their clothes. Their every day garments had been left at a barn in the suburbs, whence issued the procession, and the thief got away with several dollars in coin and some articles of trifling value.

Accident at Unionville.

A telegram from Unionville, Humboldt county, brings the intelligence that a young man named George Leach, a cousin to Mrs. C. S. Varian, had his arm blown off at that place yesterday by the bursting of a cannon. No further particulars of the accident have been received.

Back From Bodie.

Wm. Weil returned from Bodie yesterday. He reports business very lively in that camp. People flocking in by hundreds. Thousands of idle men walking about the streets. His brother M. Weil will leave for Bodie on Monday.

Kicked by a Horse.

R. D. Mills, while shoeing a horse this morning was kicked in the face by the animal. He was badly cut below the eye and it is feared that some of the bones of the face have been injured. His injuries are not considered serious and he will probably soon resume work.

A GAZETTE reporter overheard two Indians holding a conversation in English, which had the effect of arousing his curiosity. When it was ended and one of the Indians had walked away, the reporter asked the other why they talked in English instead of their native tongue. "Him," returned Lo, with lordly disdain, "Pi-ute; me Washoe. Him alle same Irishman; me alle same Mexican. He no talk good; you baby?"

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, The State of Nevada versus Arden Jones greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you by defendant by Jemima Jones as plaintiff in the District Court of the Second Judicial District, and for the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons, (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases, within the time specified by default in the case against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between plaintiff and defendant. Plaintiff alleges: That plaintiff and defendant lastly married at Mono county, California, on or about July 20th, A. D. 1878, and ever since have been and now are husband and wife; that on or about September 9th, A. D. 1878, you, the defendant, willfully deserted and abandoned plaintiff and ever since have so continued and do now, so continue to desert, abandon and live apart from the plaintiff against her will, wish or consent; that for more than a year past, the defendant's commencement of this action, you, the defendant, have failed and neglected and now do fail and neglect to provide for the plaintiff the common necessities of life, which neglect is and was not the result of poverty on your part, which you could not have avoided by ordinary industry; that there are no children living of the said marriage, and no common property. Plaintiff prays to be restored to her maiden name and for costs, all of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the clerk of said Court at Reno, in said county. And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I, P. B. COMSTOCK, Clerk of the District Court of the Second Judicial District, Nevada, in and for Washoe County, By S. A. MANN, Deputy. April 22-90d
